

Assignment 2: The Tonraq Fisher (5 marks)

Problem adapted from somewhere

Somewhere in the Swamp, Tonraq runs a water themed cult. The following events follow Sokka of this prestigious cult.

- A) Sokka goes fishing one day. He senses the fresh smell of a school of wild fish around. As an expert fisher, he realises the school didn't swim by a long ago. In a few short hours he talks to fellow fishermen of the Tonraq cult who wish him and said- "They swam by."
- B) Sokka doesn't stop and goes fishing the next day too. This time an older scent of fish school lingers around. He concludes that these smells are the remnants of the last fishing season. A few hours later he saw the same fellow fishermen again (!) and told them that- "They swam by."
- C) Next year, Sokka decides to learn fishing from the famous Kyoshi islanders. While flexing his fisher muscles, he tells the Kyoshi warriors about the time when he sensed the fresh scents of a school of fish and just knew that - "They swam by".
- D) While dozing off to the lectures, Sokka realizes that the lecture temple was freshly built by a different element cult (not the Tonraq cult). He observes - "Non-Tonraq cultists built a shack."
- E) After the long lecture completes, Sokka goes to Ember Island, the tourist attraction of Fire Islands and sees a church and the brochure listed that Earth cultists of Raava's reign built it, he shouts out that the- "Foreigners built a shack."
- F) A year after coming back he tells the fellow fishermen of the Tonraq cult in his brave tales that he saw on Ember islands that the- "Foreigners built a shack."
